Succession Planning at Wadia Group

Silvermoon Hotels have been run by the Wadia family since the 1940s. Wadia Group, through its subsidiary a company is also into travel and tourism, event management, and marketing services. Dina Wadia is the present Chief Executive. Her only son and heir apparent, 18 years old Shiraj Wadia recently died in an air crash.

Dina has now decided that her successor would be someone outside of her family. As the CEO's position was always held by family members there has been neither internal competition nor grooming of other managers at Silvermoon Hotels for the CEO spot resulting in a deficiency of internal candidates. With the support of the Board, Dina has hired an external firm to lead the search process for her successor, which would consider candidates both inside and outside the company.

Questions:-

- 1) If you are the external firm consultant, how would you approach the selection of the non-family CEO?
- 2) Succession planning is important, yet many companies neglect this aspect. Elaborate

Q .2) Case let.

As a result of rapid growth in sales, the Simpson Company had to double the size of the central secretarial pool. Many of the current secretarial staff, aged about 40 to 50, had been with the company since its inception. None had more than a high school education. Subsequently, 10 new secretaries were recruited with advanced data processing skills. They had college education and all were in their 20s. Unexpectedly, the performance level of the pool fell off drastically even though doubled in size. The manager interviewed a few of the old staff members and they told him that the new secretaries just did not fit in. They were uncooperative, would not listen, and would not take messages. When their mistakes were corrected, they got offended. In interviewing, a few of the new secretaries resented that the older secretaries refused to accept new and more efficient ideas. They complained their inability to use new knowledge and skills and the older secretaries would not socialize with them.

Sub.-> To generate hall ticket.....

Respected Sir,

We have approved the exam forms of all students but by mistake the exam form of Mr. Kumbhar Rahul Balaso (PRN 2015017601) was not approved from college side. The exam fee of such student is paid by student and such fee is also paid by college to university in time.

So we request you to consider this letter and generate hall ticket of same student.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

Encl.: 1. Fee receipt

2. List of fees paid by students
